Europe's greatest Blackball Pool players compete for Europe's top prize.

Isle of Man - September 26th- October 4th

The EBA European Championships is the official European Championships for the WPA/IOC recognised Blackball game. Teams from Scotland, Wales, England, Northern Ireland, Southern Ireland, France and Spain compete for team and individual honours in men's, women's, seniors and junior categories.

The reigning men's world team champions, Spain and Wales, will be hot favourites to lift the European title. The World Masters Champion, Scott Ross (Scotland) and runner-up, Craig Marsh (Wales) will also be in attendance.

Why Blackball?

Blackball is a fast-paced and very attacking version of 8-ball pool, the 'skill shot' rule allows players to complete very fast break and finishes not available in other versions of 8-ball pool. The 'skill-shot' is essentially potting two or more balls simultaneously, generally yours and an opponents to clear the way for a finish.

Blackball is the only 'small-ball' 8-ball game to be officially recognised by the World Pool Association and in turn the International Olympic Committee.

The game is now experiencing a strong growth outside it's native hotbed of Europe. It now has a major following in Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Swaziland, Nigeria, Malawi, Reunion and Tanzania. Covering this event is important to the growth of the Blackball game and makes for some seriously exciting TV.

Boca... A Love Story (2009)

Duration: 52 minutes
Languages: English, Spanish

HD

SYNOPSIS

“BOCA... A LOVE STORY” sets out to narrate in documentary format along 52 minutes film a unique love story, a story that transmits surprising feelings and that generates a great Argentine passion that today reaches all and sundry: the love that football fans, players, ordinary people, celebrities and coaches feel for the most popular football club in Argentina and one of the most important the world over: BOCA JUNIORS.

This film narrates the story of an unparalleled love, that never changes and brooks no treason, that swells Sunday after Sunday, and that is very much alive no matter if the team wins or loses, together forever in the hour of victory or when facing desolating defeat. This story is told in a very original way, by no other than the daughter of the best football player of all times: Dalma Maradona. Who better than Dalma to introduce us to this fascinating and exciting world of BOCA JUNIORS.

We also have statements by the main Boca protagonists:

- Diego Maradona,
- The most celebrated football players to wear the Boca shirt: Juan Roman Riquelme, Martín Palermo, Guillermo Barros Schelotto.
- The coaches that lead the team: Carlos Bilardo y Miguel Angel Russo.
- The most celebrated fans, known by all: Perez Celis, Julio Bocca.

- Club authorities Mauricio Macri, Pedro Pompilio,
- The breeding ground, the kit-men, the grounds men, all those anonymous characters who lay down their lives for this love.
- The anonymous fans in the crowd.

And many celebrities who share this passion and who, from their role as permanent protagonists of diverse love stories, will share with us how so much love and passion for the club colours can be explained

They themselves tell us how they met the love of their lives, about their first encounter, how they came to feel what they feel and how they ended being in love with Boca for ever.

And also, how they face mockeries and adversity, remaining faithful to their club, defending it against all odds and carrying proud its colours, the colours of Boca Juniors, “Boquita”.

The Film pay close attention to the quality of the photography, carefully directed, travelling to different countries such as the United States, England and Colombia, with the marvellous natural colours of the neighbourhood of La Boca and its Stadium as its main setting, always with Dalma Maradona, who will lead us as we travel along all those feelings and passions this love awakens in so many, the only love in the world that brooks no lovers, the love for BOCA JUNIORS.

A ball can change the world

The Homeless World Cup uses football as a catalyst to encourage people who are homeless to change their lives; and to change the attitudes of governments, media, public and key influencers to create better solutions to homelessness around the world.

We do this with a world-class international football tournament uniting teams of people who are homeless to take a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to represent their country. And by triggering and developing grass-roots football programs in over 70 nations currently engaging 30,000 homeless players all year round.

In 2005 the Homeless World Cup Foundation was set up to develop the grass roots football programmes and our mission is to engage one million players in 75 nations in the benefits of football and be the most reputable organisation using sport for social change in the world.

The inaugural Homeless World Cup kicked off in Graz, Austria, uniting 18 nations. Since then it has gained great momentum in Gothenburg, Sweden (2004), Edinburgh, Scotland (2005), Cape Town, South Africa (2006) and Copenhagen, Denmark (2007). In Melbourne, Australia (2008) 56 nations were united for the biggest Homeless World Cup ever, including the first Women's Cup and a legacy of 30 street soccer programs across Australia. Next is Milan 2009 from 6-13 September before South America in 2010, Europe in 2011 and potentially Asia in 2012.

Research consistently demonstrates that over 70 per cent of players experience a significant life change. They come off drugs and alcohol, move into homes, jobs, education and training, repair relationships and even become coaches and players.

Founded by world-leading social entrepreneur Mel Young, the Homeless World Cup is supported by UEFA, Vodafone Foundation, Nike, Global Ambassador Eric Cantona and international footballers Didier Drogba and Rio Ferdinand.

Keep The Goal (2009)

Duration: 50x4minutes

Language: English

The Concept

The greatest football players share with us their memory of one of the most beautiful goals they have scored for their national team during an official competition. Each episode will illustrate a goal of the national team at one of its campaigns carried out at the time of the great competitions (final phases). Thanks to Keep The Goal, we'll revive the most beautiful hours of the greatest football competitions.

Progress

The episode opens on an animation including:

- Posters of the official competitions, which ravel
- A meter with the dates
- A meter with the places (cities and stages)
- A meter with the hours

The episode continues with archive images of the goal with original comments.

Following the original comments, we'll hear the voice of the striker whom we'll see alternately with a slow motion repeat broadcast of the goal.

The striker answers to some questions as for example:

- 1) Of who or what did you thought just after scoring?
- 2) Why did you made this precise gesture after scoring?
- 3) What signifies this goal in your international career?
- 4) Did (do) you have special habits before a match? (Recurring gesture, lucky-charm objects etc.)
- 5) Did you kept the shirt of this match; to who did you gave it; do you have an anecdote on this match?

The next sequence is an identification sheet of the striker concerned by the episode.

Voice-over: The player reads his identification sheet. Planned as an identity card, the sheet includes:

- A based period photograph of the player
- His name and first name
- His number and position in national team
- His national team selection records (goals, appearances etc.)

In case of need :

- His nickname

The program ends on a presentation of the next episode.

The Gooner Review

The film is a perfect companion to Arsenal FC's official season review. Whereas the official season review has all the goals and interviews with current players, The Gooner Review analyses the top ten most significant moments of the season from an independent supporter's viewpoint. The film features interviews with Nick Hornby, Bob Wilson, Perry Groves, Joe and Clive Swift, Peter Marinello, Tom Watt, Judge Jules and many others. So you can find out what they made of the season including the unbeaten run, the captaincy issue, the semi-finals, Arsene's performance as manager and many other key issues.

" We've all seen the PR machine that football clubs put out. It's good to see an independent football film for a full, frank opinion."- JUDGE JULES, RADIO 1 DJ

LIVING IT UP IN THE ALPS

Duration: 6x26' or 13x26'

Snowboarding and Skiing is addictive, anarchic, crazy, creative and aspirational as well as stupendously dangerous but most of all it's great fun. Every year there is an exodus of Brits who go and live the dream in one of the dozen of ski towns across Europe. This series is about those seasonaires, the pro riders and their lives and their attitudes. It's nosiy, dangerous and illuminating a series that is full of the thrills and spills of life in the Mountains.

We'll feature Maverick Ed Leigh, BBC's Ski Sunday presenter, along with fellow chums Ewan Wallace, and another 20 good mates including Jonny (The Cat) Verity-he always lands feet first, but admits to having a panchant for running around in super hero outfits, as they explore the mountains and live the dream. James Stentiford, one of the UK's most fearless backcountry riders shows us the inner beauty and cruelty of the mountains from another perspective. Then we have Chamonix afficiando, Jamie Strachan-clothes and ski designer, the first real brit to make it- a classic allround good egg has done everything from punter to ski bum, to first descents of Alaskan peaks. Then we have the girls, and they are all crackers- hot on boards as well as babes, Jenny Jones, Juliette Elliott and the like mix it up along the way doing the big freestyle comps all over Europe. This is LIFE in the fast lane.

We will head to Chamoinx, Tignes, Val, d'Iserre, Meribel, Alpes D'Huez, La Grave... where the Brit Snow Pack pack hang out We will go off the beaten track in Verbier and beyond with Warren Smith. We go big mountain riding European style searching among the Alpes, the Pyrenees, and the Dolomites searching in the couloirs for the deep untracked powder on 50 degree avalanche prone slopes. This is a series with serious attitude that will twist and turn with the weather and the mountains.

Of course Legend Matt Reardon is back, the rock star extreme skier with new knees. He comes in for all of the big occasions when he is not off doing some big descents somewhere (and of course we follow him there as well).

We'll be there from first thing in the morning to last thing at night, from the fun of day to day riding to preparations for the major competitions and championships. The Brits, Burton Open and of course next year is the Winter Olympics..Who will do well and who will fail? We'll be there when they find the potential jumps, gullies and couloirs that you see in all the extreme photos and films.

THIS IS LIFE STYLE.....

All the elements of this series- skiing/snowboarding, the life and the business, the social aspects, the competitions, the pressures and the dangers-will make the most illuminating series yet in life in the mountains. And of course the Parties- the Alpes go off like no where else especially at Snowbombing- Run by mad Mancunian Gareth Cooper-the biggest après ski parties in the party mad resort of St Anton with a cast of DJ's and rock stars ever assembled.

- With a cast of characters that spans the world of pro, amateur, ski and snowboard, backcountry and park rider this will be the definitive alpine documentary.
- It will be the most entertaining look into the world of extreme skiing/snowboarding.
- This series is as much about the travel and lifestyle as it is about the action.
- This year will be the year of the adventure / mission.
- At the core we will have: strong narratives to each episode including regular cast updates, beautiful HD film photography.

The series will feature both FREE RIDE and FREESTYLE and divide it's time between the soul riders and the competition trails. NOT ONLY IS THIS SERIES FUN AND DANGEROUS BUT AT IT'S HEART IT WILL BE WHERE YOU WOULD BE IF YOU WERE IN THE KNOW..IT WILL BE REQUIRED VIEWING AND VERY VERY UBER COOL AND BAGGY.
